

ABSTRACT

The present invention is methods, apparatuses and systems for dynamic switching of image processing techniques. Image processing techniques include resolution enhancement for improving the quality of text and line art, halftone image enhancement for improving the quality of gray value or halftone images and toner conservation for reducing toner consumption. Toner conservation may be used simultaneously with other image enhancement processing techniques according to the present invention.

N:\285\84528\4528US Patent Application Rev 4.doc 11/28/2000